Woods System of Care and Bridgeway Behavioral Health Services Announce Affiliation

The partnership will increase access to behavioral health services for individuals in New Jersey and boost access to services for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities and autism.

LANGHORNE, PA – Woods System of Care, Inc. and Bridgeway Behavioral Health Services (Bridgeway) are pleased to announce their affiliation.

The affiliation has been approved by the organizations' boards and New Jersey regulatory agencies. With the addition of Bridgeway, Woods System of Care will employ approximately 7,000 people and serve more than 50,000 individuals.

The Woods System of Care, headquartered in Langhorne, Pa., comprises over 20 affiliated companies and joint ventures in Pennsylvania and New Jersey that provide lifetime integrated services for more than 50,000 children and adults with intellectual disabilities, autism, and /or mental health challenges who also have complex medical and genetic conditions. Services include medical, dental, and behavioral care, prevention and wellness, education, housing, vocational training and workforce development, and a wide range of social services.

Bridgeway, headquartered in Union, New Jersey, serves more than 6,000 people each year with crisis intervention programs, psychiatric screening, outpatient counseling, substance use treatment, supportive housing and education, integrated case management, assertive community treatment, and career services in 11 counties in northern aNew Jersey.

Bridgeway joins Woods' three other New Jersey affiliate agencies, Legacy Treatment Services; Allies, Inc.; and Archway Programs, in a coordinated effort to enhance and expand behavioral health services across New Jersey.

"This affiliation will significantly expand programs to serve individuals with behavioral healthcare needs in New Jersey," said Tine Hansen-Turton, MGA, JD, President & CEO of Woods System of Care. "This partnership will allow our organizations to create new programs and expand existing ones, resulting in potentially thousands of additional people receiving needed services. Bridgeway will benefit from the integrated management services provided by Woods System of Care as well as Woods' strategic, operational, legal, and programmatic guidance. Woods, in turn, will expand its footprint across all of New Jersey, grow its behavioral health and IDD/A programs, and gain expertise from Bridgeway's staff and leadership.

"Bridgeway's affiliation enables us to expand our vision and accelerate growth to serve even more work together to serve even more individuals who seek behavioral health services," added Cory Storch, President and CEO of Bridgeway.

"The skills and expertise of Bridgeway's leadership complement Woods' leadership, which will greatly enhance the capacity of the system as a whole," said Bridgeway's board chairperson Marlene Baldinger. There is enormous potential for growth.

"Our organizations and organizational cultures are aligned, which strengthens our ability to provide much-needed, person-centered care to underserved populations," said Mark Williams, Chair of the Woods System of Care Board of Trustees.

About Woods System of Care

To ensure lifelong care and supports for the individuals it serves, Woods Services created the Woods System of Care – a network of affiliate organizations located in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Through this collaboration, the Woods System of Care provides lifelong care and supports by providing comprehensive and integrated health, education, housing, workforce development, behavioral health, and case management services. Woods applies a population health management strategy that includes the integration of primary and specialty medical care with behavioral health to more than 50,000 individuals in the intellectual and developmental disability and behavioral health public health sectors who have complex medical and behavioral health care needs.

Founded in 1913 by Philadelphia schoolteacher Mollie Woods to advance the quality of life and standard of care for individuals with disabilities, Woods continues this mission today. For more information, please visit woodssystemofcare.org.
